REAL BATTLE IN MEXICO

Rebels Repulse Superior Force of Federals At Aqua Prieta.

CAPTURE TWO GUNS

Seven Americans Wounded
Over The Line In Douglas, Arizona.

Aqua Prieta, Mex., April 18.—The most important battle of the Mexican revolution was fought here yesterday, between 1,600 Federals under command of Lieut. Col. Diaz, and 1,000 rebels under Basasario Garcia, and resulted in the repulse of the Federals.

The battle, however, was not finally decisive. It lasted from 6:30 a. m. until sundown. At nightfall two Federal machine guns were in possession of the rebels and Federals had sustained a loss estimated by the rebels as at least 200 killed and wounded. The rebels gave their own loss as twenty.

From the beginning of the battle, regardless of the warning given by the United States Government to the leaders of both forces, a rain of bullets poured into the American town of Douglas, and when the day was over it was found that seven non-combatant residents of that city had been wounded. It was a day almost of terror in Douglas.

Aqua Prieta Evacuated.

Aqua Prieta, Mexico, April 19.—The rebel army, after almost eighteen hours of incessant fighting Monday in defense of Aqua Prieta, quietly evacuated the town during the night. It moved silently and when day broke was nowhere to be seen. The Mexican national troops entered the city at dawn, encountering no resistance.

Great was the surprise of the commanders of the Government troops on finding, when they reached the outerworks of the rebel entrenchments, that the trenches had been abandoned and no insurrectos were in sight.

Cabral Arrives Too Late.

In the afternoon a large body of rebels arrived and captured the town.

insurrectos appeared approaching the city and advanced until fired on, ignorant of the fact that the Federals were in charge.

There were apparently more than 500 men in the combined columns.

Cowboys who came into Aqua Prieta about this time reported that the force was that of Juan Cabral, the noted insurrecto leader of Sonora, who at different times in the last few weeks has wreaked much havoc on the federal forces. With him now, it was reported, was the insurgent command led by Senora Talamantes, the "Mexican Joan of Arc."

A Mexican insurrecto on foot crossed over the line west of Douglas and surrendered to an American citizen. He said he was a member of Cabral's band advancing from the west. He said Cabral had no knowledge that the federals had taken Aqua Prieta and was moving forward, expecting to join the rebel garrison when first fired upon. This rebel's horse was shot from under him while he was scouting far in advance, and he escaped on foot through the brush to the American side.

Late Tuesday evening the federals brought into the bull ring at Aqua Prieta twenty-five federals wounded in Monday's battle.

In official reports, given out by Col. Diaz, the total dead and injured, rebel and federal, was said to be about fifty, but it is believed this figure is far too low.

From daylight this morning nothing was seen of the rebel troops which vanished from Aqua Prieta. The greater part moved away in order, with the promise, shouted across the line to the American sentries, that they would be back in a few days to fight it out.

Col. Medina, who had assumed command of the rebels in Aqua Prieta, last night made his way to the American line before dawn and surrendered to the United States troops. He was the mayor of the town. He was immediately placed under guard and held at the headquarters of the American cavalry at the ball park.

The victorious federal force which occupied the town this morning numbered 1,200 men. Lieut. Col. Reynaldo Diaz was in supreme command:

Mother of Eighteen.

Mrs. David Ramsay died at Columbia City, Ind., Monday, was the mother of eighteen children all living, and she came from a family of seventeen children, all of whom are living. She was 52 years of age.

MASKED MEN GET HOT LEAD

One of Them Killed When Door Was Broken Down.

GOOD DEFENSE OF HOME

Eight or Ten in The Mob—
Several Men are Now
In Jail.

Springfield, Tenn., April 19.—Burton Yarbrough, son of Ed Yarbrough, is dead, and Gilbert Marshall, Hardy Allen and Jack Binley are in jail here as a result of a midnight raid Saturday on the home of R. H. Mabry, about two and a half miles north of town. Officers are looking for others supposed to have been in the circuit court.

About 1 o'clock Saturday night a number of masked men went to the home of Mabry carrying with them pistols and switches. They knocked on the door and the men on the outside procured a rail and told Mabry if he did not open the door by the time they counted three they would break the door in. He replied that the first man who came in the door would be shot. The door was knocked open with the rail and the men entered. As they entered Mabry opened fire with a shotgun and was fired upon with a pistol, being shot in the left arm. Mabry came in after hearing of Yarbrough's death, gave himself up and made bond.

The men in jail here are all young. They were arrested early yesterday morning and have retained counsel. They have not talked about the case and what they know about the raid is unknown.

Several rumors are afloat as the cause of the attack upon Mabry. One is that they went to administer moral correction to him. Another is that ill feeling existed toward him on account of his killing a dog of the boys. A hearing will be had before Squire E. S. Eckles Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

Young Yarbrough was buried today at Palestine.

Gang Held Over.

Springfield, Tenn., April 19.—Gilbert Marshall, Jack Brenley and Hardy Allen, who have been in jail since last Sunday, had a preliminary hearing today before Esquire E. S. Eckles, and were required to give bond for $2,500 for their appearance at the next term of the circuit court. Gilbert Marshall was able to make the bond, but the others, being unable to do so, are still in jail. The state developed a strong case against the defendants. The defendants declined to offer any proof. Henry Marshall, the fourth one arrested, appeared and waived examination and executed bond for $2,500 for his appearance at the next term of the circuit court.

MEAT MEN

Enter Into Agreement Not to Open on Sunday After
May 1.

The following agreement has been entered into by the meat-dealers of the city: "April 12th, 1911. We the undersigned dealers in Meats in the city of Hopkinsville agree to close our stores on Sunday, provided that this agreement receives the signatures of all the dealers:

Signed: N. STADELMAN,
J. L. FREEDMAN,
JACOB HESS,
MAX MEYER & SONS,
CONWAY.

It has been the custom for several years to allow these stores to keep open for certain hours on Sunday by common consent, though there is nothing in the statutes that provides for this exception to the general law regarding doing business on Sunday. However with this agreement, the mayor has promised to see that the stores are kept closed, which will receive the hearty co-operation of the signers of the above agreement. The law will be strictly enforced regarding the opening of some of the fish-markets in the city, and all selling of meats.

In order that the public might have due notice, it was agreed that this arrangement should not go into effect until the first Sunday in May.

Caldwell-Wade.

Prof. J. A. Caldwell, of Columbia, Ky., and Miss Lucile Wade, of Pember, were married last night.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Lottie Wade and the late H. B. Wade. She has been teaching near Bowling Green for some time.

The groom is an educator of promise.

Missionary Board.

The regular monthly meeting of the Executive Board of missions of Bethel Association was held at the First Baptist church, Tuesday evening at 2 o'clock. Those present were J. T. Garrett, H. G. Brownell, F. M. Wilson, H. H. Abernathy and Secretary E. J. Weller. Routine business only was attended to.

Will Walden Surprises His Mother by Coming Home.

Glasgow, Ky., April 18.—While sitting by the fire in a reminiscent mood a few nights since and thinking of her son, who had joined the standing army twenty years ago, and wondering if all was well with him if she would ever have the pleasure of seeing him again, Mrs. Mary Walden, of Thompsonville, was startled from her reverie by a step on the veranda, and, looking up, she beheld her son, Will C. Walden, whom she had not seen for almost a quarter of a century. Mrs. Walden could hardly believe her eyes, but when the old, familiar voice said "Mother," her joy knew no bounds, and in a second she was in his arms sobbing for joy.

Mr. Walden has traveled around the globe twice since leaving his home twenty years ago. He is a musician of rare talent, and for several years was chief musician on the battleship Virginia. Mr. Walden says he is tired of traveling and will spend the rest of his days among the picturesque hills of Monroe county among the people he loves so well.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?
No, never. It's foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since. Use this safe, sure remedy only. 50c at all drug-

FOR THE KENTUCKIAN.

Girls Who AreConsiderate

"It's no use," sighed the industrious girl as she looked up from a stocking she was trying to darn. "None of my theories work for more than a week."

"What's wrong now?" inquired the one stunning member of the crowd.
"Have you turned the other cheek once too often, or what?"

"Oh, dear me, no," replied the industrious girl. "You know I gave that up long ago. But I told you, didn't I, that my brother is married? Well, you know I've always believed in
'woman in woman's sphere' and all that sort of thing, and it doesn't work at all."

"He married a girl just out of school—nice pretty girl, fresh and charming and all that. Could cook some, and play, too. Well, sometimes he can't get home when he says he will, and then she goes about looking like a small sized thunder cloud and tries to stir up things generally. I don't believe it is the fault of anything except that she never was downtown herself and so doesn't know what things are liable to turn up."

The industrious one gave her needle a vicious yank and looked hard at the rest to see if they agreed with her.

"Well, my dear," drawled the family peacemaker, "you see how good it is for you to have had this experience. Now, if your brother had married a girl like one of us, for instance—girls who for a good while have been supporting ourselves more or less—he probably would feel that he had acquired a chum, and a good one, too, but he'd miss the freshness that the other girl has."

"I don't know a single girl who has worked downtown who isn't more considerate of the man she marries than is a girl who hasn't worked downtown.
Of course we lose a lot of the gloss and all that, but we get something which has a higher value, I honestly believe."

"Now, take me for instance. Here
I've been working for ten years or so, and last year I met a young girl from the south. I don't believe she ever did a thing for herself in her life, at least not in the way of making money; but she was sweet and gentle, like all southerners, and could make perfectly delicious gowns and could play a little, and everybody liked her."

"All the men she met thought she was fetching, and she was. I thought so, too, but I felt like a battered old war horse beside her. I looked at everything so differently."

"Things that bothered her nearly to death I didn't even notice, and a man —just a mere man—didn't mean anything more to me than a girl would.
You understand that when you are with them all day you get sort of used to them."

"This was added in a rather apologetic manner, for the peacemaker knows that the stunning girl, though she, too, sees men every day, still takes a somewhat violent interest in them, at least in certain ones, and no disparaging remarks are allowed.

"But to come back to the original remark of yours," went on the peacemaker, "I think you are nearly right.
Not that I want to puff you up, you know, but I don't believe a girl appreciates a home and all it means until she has been away from it. Ever since Mother Eve pattered around the garden and found the tree, girls have wanted to patter, too, and you can't putter when you work downtown. Besides, a girl who has had to work knows how much more fun it is to stay at home and do something else than go downtown and hear in the morning's mail that Smith, Brown & Co. have sent in a large order which will have prompt attention.

"As for me and my house," declared the peacemaker, firmly, "we would rather make out a list for the grocery than write patent specifications, and I know I'd rather make a nice loaf of bread than hammer at a typewriter.
But then, what's the use! Why repine?" And the peacemaker went back to her book.

The industrious girl was not to be shut up thus easily, so she came back again before the time limit was up.

"Well," she declared, "what I want to know is why such a lot of girls who aren't nearly as pretty as Molly nor as smart as you are should be married, while we three, who are pining for a chance to run a house—and a man—should remain on the parent stem, as it were."

"Of course, it is fun," she added,
"living as we do, but it is only a sort of make believe. It would be real enough if we didn't have to go downtown during the day, but we do." And she heaved a prodigious sigh.

Trust the Motorman.

Spring has arrived over in Bayonne.
Whenever a hen lays an egg in the street everyone knows that the jig is up with old man Winter. It was in Avenue C that a hen found a place that suited her, between the trolley car rails. When a car came along she refused to hedge.

The motorman, recognizing the sacred bird of Bayonne, brought his car to a stop in record time and refused to start it until with a loud cackling
the hen arose and dashed for cover, leaving a brand-new 48-cents-a-dozen egg laying on the asphalt. While an admiring throng gathered around the motorman stepped out and took possession of the egg.—New York Mor

The Knock-out Blow

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing home to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but to the stomach we are utterly indifferent, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out.

Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol—pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new or but slightly tested medicines—sometimes urged upon the afflicted as "just as good" or better than "Golden Medical Discovery." The dishonest dealer sometimes insists that he knows what the proffered substitute is made of, but you don't and it is decidedly for your interest that you should know what you are taking into your stomach and system expecting it to act as a curative. To him it's only a difference of profit. Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If not promptly supplied trade elsewhere.

Send 31 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only on a free copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, cloth-bound. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

CHRIST-LIKE COMMON SENSE

Mutual Service the Basis of Confidence and Means Justice, Peace, Plenty and Virtue.

Mutual service is the basis of mutual confidence. Mutual service means justice, peace, plenty, virtue. It means the beginning at least of that mutual love which is the crown and glory of the divine life of a perfect humanity. If we are committed to that we are on our way to the realization of the Christian ideal. If not, no belief will save us. We may fast and pray and humiliate ourselves before we can put the message of Jesus into such form as to reach the mind, the conscience, the heart, of this generation; we must get at the spirit in which he, being what he was, spoke and acted. If, by sympathy, we share the spirit that moved him we begin to know not what he said and did then so much as what we ought to say and do now and here. What he said about the rich and the poor, the scribes and the Pharisees, the Gentile publicans and Jewish sinners he might not say today if he were dealing with the problems of modern society. What he did at any moment depended upon the peculiar circumstances of the time and place. He might act differently now and here. If, however, we can discover the spirit in which he used the gifts of his nature and the power of God that was in him we may in the spirit know how we ought to apply ourselves to the needs of our time and what will help us in our work today. —Christian Register.

CORONATIONS OF OLD DAYS

Quaint Ceremonials That Formerly Were Observed at the Banquet in Westminster Hall.

Westminster Hall saw some picturesque pageants at old-time coronations. Among these, according to a writer in the Queen, was a coronation banquet, at which were observed some quaint ceremonials. The first course was brought into the hall with much courtly splendor. At the crowning of George IV, Lord Anglesey, as lord high steward, rode in the center wearing his robes and coronet, and with a plume of white feathers on his horse's head. The duke of Wellington as lord high constable rode on his right on a white charger most richly caparisoned, and on the left rode Lord Howard of Effingham as deputy earl marshal of England.

These three, with many other attendants, escorted the gentlemen pensioners, who bore the hot dishes for the king's own eating. At this banquet cups of wine were offered by the lord mayor of London and by the mayor of Oxford; the lord of the manor of Lyston presented a plate of wafers, and another lord of a manor gave three cups of maple unto his sovereign. These cups of maple were presented and accepted by King Edward at his coronation in 1902. Westminster Hall is no longer used on the occasion of this solemn service.

Ancient Discourse.

The vicar was a very old man. He had been in the parish forty-two years. During his last year the curate was practically in charge of the services, but now and then, when he was able, he occupied the pulpit. His eyesight was bad, and he was altogether unfit to compose fresh sermons, so had to fall back on old ones. One Sunday morning his hearers were alarmed with a discourse much as follows: "We are standing today," he said, "face to face with a great power in the east. We are on the verge of war. (Long pause.) We are—we are—we are on the brink of war with Russia. I—er—we, I mean—we will now proceed to consider the next point." In the vestry, after service, the curate asked him about the projected war, as he had seen nothing about it in the papers. "That sermon," he said, with a very far-off look in his eyes, and a slight suspicion of a smile—"that sermon I wrote forty years ago."

The Man in the Stock.

Thomas Hardy lived to see many changes in his native Wessex. "I have seen with my own eyes things that many people believe to have been extinct for centuries. I have seen men in the stocks. I remember one perfectly when I was very young. I can see him now, sitting in the scorching sunshine with the flies crawling over him." Incidents like these were used in "Teas of the D'Urbervilles" and "The Return of the Native." Max Gate, the house in which he lives, is built on what was formerly crown land belonging to the duchy of Cornwall. When Hardy's offer to purchase was received the late King Edward, then prince of Wales, remarked: "Let him have the land he wants; he has set his heart on it, and we must do all we can to make our authors contented."

The Main Requisite.

A pale, intellectual looking chap, wearing eyeglasses and unshorn hair, visited an athletic instructor not long ago and asked questions until the diplomatic athlete finally became weary. "If I take boxing and wrestling lessons from you, will it require any particular application?" he asked. "No," answered the instructor, "but a little arama will come in handy."

This Commercial Age.

"Are you acquainted with him as yet?"

"Only in a business way. I married his daughter."—Spokesman Review.

Riding Astride.

The custom of riding astride among ladies, our London correspondent remarks, "has come to stay." To be precise, one would say that it has come back to stay. The ladies of the middle ages almost habitually rode astride. Women in those days were accustomed to ride nearly as much as men, and most traveling was on horseback. No doubt the state of the roads demanded as safe a seat as possible. The custom of riding sideways did not spread in England before the latter part of the fourteenth century, and did not become general then.—Manchester (England) Guardian.

A Defect.

A certain skeptic was contending before a minister that the work of the Creator was manifestly imperfect. "Have you not yourself," he asked, "noted defects in the human organism, for instance, and thought of better contrivances?" To his delight there was the frank reply, "Why, yes, I really think I have." "In what respect?" "Why," drawled the parson, "you see when I want to shut out anything disagreeable from my sight, I can draw down my eyelids, and it is done; but, unfortunately, I haven't any flaps to my ears." Conversation ceased at about that point.—The Christian Guardian.

Prof. H. G. Brownell delivered an address at Penbroke Baptist church Sunday, as supply for pastor W. E. Mitchell, who is ill.

THE YEUELL MEETING

TO-DAY
3:30 p. m.—Preaching and Song Service.
4:30 p. m.—Baptismal Service.
7:30 p. m.—Preaching and Song Service.

TOMORROW

Services at the same hours as above and in addition a service at McLean College at 10 a. m.

SATURDAY

7:30 p. m.—An illustrated lecture, "The Making of New Americans" 100 views made from fine photos and great paintings will be shown in the usual skillful manner. No charge for admission. A silver offering at the door.

Since the last report made in the paper twenty persons have been at the front in the meetings, sixty-three having presented themselves since their beginning. The meetings have gone right on their way of effective spiritual work despite uncertainties and inclemencies of the weather. Indeed one of the very best days of all the meetings thus far was Tuesday where at service hours there were heavy rains, that of the evening amounting to a down pour. On that day twelve were baptized and six others presented themselves to confess Christ as Lord and to unite with the church.

Mr. Yeuell is preaching with his wonted vigor and enthusiasm. The sermons of this week are even superior to those of last week it is thought. On Monday which is supposed to be a day of rest with him he spoke to the Virginia St. school and preached one sermon at the Ninth St. church. Tuesday was filled almost as full as a Sunday, Mr. Yeuell giving in addition to his two sermons, a lecture at McLean College which was in every way equal to his fine sermon of that night on "Heaven." The Evangelist will lecture to McLean Students again Friday morning in response to the invitation of President Kuykendall.

The music of the meeting is being improved as the large choir becomes more inspired through the daily singing together of its numbers. Mrs. Foster is of course the presiding genius of it. She is even exceeding the expectations of her most ardent friends in her conduct of the song service. And Mrs. Perkins and the rest are giving her the large support to which her fine leadership entitles her.

Among visitors from neighboring towns and cities noted in the audience are Dr. Gooch and President LaRue of Owensboro College, both of Owensboro, Dr. Jno. W. Crenshaw, wife and daughter Miss Mary, of Cadiz, Rev. Jno. T. Hawkins of Elkhorn, Rev. W. A. Nance of Crofton and Mr. John Street of Elkhorn.

All are heartily invited to the meetings.

DEATH OF MRS. BAKER

Remains Interred Near Princeton Yesterday.

Mrs. Mary J. Baker died Monday night at the residence of her son in law, Mr. John J. Metcalfe, No. 202 East Sixth street. She had been suffering from a complication of diseases for some time and was stricken with paralysis a few days ago. Mrs. Baker was the widow of R. L. Baker and moved here several years ago from Princeton to make her home with her daughter.

She was 57 years old and a member of the Christian church. Two children, Dr. W. T. Baker, of Princeton, and Mrs. Metcalfe, of this city, survive. The remains were taken to Princeton Tuesday afternoon. Her funeral services were held at the home of her son yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. H. D. Smith, of this city, and the interment took place in the family burying ground, about seven miles east of Princeton.

SECOND STROKE BRINGS DEATH

Judge Alex H. Anderson
Died Yesterday Morning of Paralysis.

BURIED AT 2 P.M. TODAY

Was In 65th Year of His Age
And One of City's Most Prominent Men.

Judge Alexander H. Anderson died at eight o'clock yesterday morning from the effects of a stroke of paralysis. He has been almost disabled for some time from a previous stroke and when stricken Tuesday it was realized that he could live but a few hours.

Judge Anderson was a native of this county and was born in July 1846. He had been prominent in business and political circles for many years. He served part of a term as county judge of Christian county, losing on a contest by Judge W. P. Winfree. Subsequently he was a member of the city council for a number of years. He was also chairman of the Republican county committee several times. During Gov. Bradley's administration he was steward of the Western Asylum.

After retiring from this office he engaged in the drug business, becoming the head of the Anderson-Fowler Drug Co. A year or two ago he retired from business and his last official position was as Supervisor of the Census of 1910 for the Second District.

For a year or more he had been in failing health and for several months had been practically disabled, much of the time confined to his room.

In early life Judge Anderson was married to Miss Laura Blythe and of several children born to them three survive—Otho H. Anderson, a leading attorney, Mrs. L. E. Fowler and Mrs. Lucian Barnes. Mrs. Anderson died about two years ago. Judge Anderson was a prominent member of the Elks Lodge, being a charter member. He also held membership in the Odd Fellows order. He was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. His funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence on the corner of Second and Virginia streets, conducted by Rev. M. L. Clements.

The interment will be with the honors of the I. O. O. F. lodge and the Elks will attend in a body.

CASH NEEDED NOW.

Our Baseball club must have $500 now to put up a guarantee, so if you are willing our secretary will call on you for it or which is just as good or better, hand him your check. And we must have about $600 more subscribed, we have not made up the amount actually needed by that sum. So to save the club, we must contribute more money. Baseball is not a matter of profit to any man doing this work, but the enjoyment of the game is our object. So don't put your gift on the idea of a financial donation but rather as a source of enjoyment for yourself and your neighbor, and also on the ground of pride. We are going to have a club well worthy your support and pride. You will find the secretary at the Kentucky office where he has made office arrangements for the season.

The contract of Grady Burgess was received today. He is from the Atlanta team and is thought by President Heisman to be a regular "Cracker Jack."

Just as soon as the weather permits, work will begin on the grounds and grand stand. Some of the roof has been blown off and the grounds in places have been badly washed. An extension of the stand is also contemplated if we raise enough money.

Miss Emily Elliott, of Henderson, is visiting Mrs. H. I. Minty.

Tuesday.

W. H. Strange, an expert from the Agricultural Department, will lecture at the court house on Tuesday April 25, at 10:30, a. m., in the interest of the contest which has been arranged by Miss West, County Superintendent. The subscribers to the award fund must arrange a program and schedule of prizes by the time Mr. Strange comes to officially inaugurate the contest. A little is still lacking on the $320 needed, but it is expected to be forthcoming.

The subscribers are called to meet at the City Court room at nine o'clock to-morrow morning, Friday, to organize and elect a committee to have charge of the contest.

Christian Endeavor Rally.

The coming of Mr. John Ray Clark, Kentucky, West Virginia and Missouri Field Secretary of Christian Endeavor, will be an event of interest to all young Christian workers in the city. Mr. Clark will speak at the First Presbyterian church tonight, and all who have listened to Mr. Clark say that his address is well worth hearing. His address is full of excellent ideas for the carrying on of Christian Endeavor work, and it is hoped that all persons in the city, young or old who are interested in this movement, will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing Mr. Clark. No admission will be charged, but an offering will be taken for Christian Endeavor work in the State. Preceding the address at 8:00 p. m. a workers' conference will be held for half an hour, when Mr. Clark will suggest ways and means to aid Christian Endeavor.

Chandler, Okla.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Ella Flowers says, "I hardly know how to thank you for the good that Cardui has done me. Before I tried Cardui, I thought I was past help, but after taking it, I was relieved at once, and gained at least 10 pounds. Everybody says I look so much better. I am still improving greatly." Many women are completely worn-out and disengaged, on account of womanly weakness. Are you? Have you not tried Cardui? It only needs a few doses to convince you that Cardui is just what you need. Try it to-day. It will cure your pains.

Who Was There That You Knew?

IN the shadowy ranks of those who marched to defeat or death or victory fifty years ago in the mighty conflict that convulsed this great nation, is there a father or grandfather or uncle of yours? Would you like to see a photograph of him in that long ago day of his youth—a photograph that he never knew was taken? Perhaps we can show you one; and in any case, we can tell you a story, stranger than any detective fiction, of 3,500 priceless photographs that were lost and are found again.

3,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

THEY were taken by the greatest photographer in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $30,000; they were buried in the War Department for 50 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broken down; that duplicate set was knocked from pillar to post for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector. J. Pierpont Morgan tried to acquire the collection—Ex-President Garfield and General Benjamin F. Butler said it was worth $150,000—but with the help of the Review or Reviews, the entire collection has been gathered into 10 great volumes and is placed within your reach at less than the value of one of the photographs. It is the one accurate, impartial history of the Civil War—for the camera cannot lie. It tells the story of the War you never heard before. Taken under protection of the Secret Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war; they penetrate to strange places and record strange things.

HE UNDERSTOOD ABOUT IT

Prospective Juror Knew What Was Meant by Preponderance of Evidence.

A certain man, says a writer in the Green Bag, was under examination by a member of a New York law firm, with reference to his qualifications as a juror in an important case, involving a considerable sum of money. "You understand," the lawyer questioned, "what is meant by a preponderance of evidence?" "Yes, sir," the man replied, promptly.

"Let me have your definition of it."

"I understand it, I tell you."

"Well, what is it?"

"Why, anybody can tell that."

"I would like to have your definition of it."

"I know what it is," said the man, hotly. "When I tell you I know what anything is, I know it. That's all there is about it."

"Well, what was the question I asked?"

"You ought to know what that was. If you've forgot your own questions, don't expect me to remember them for you."

"I don't want to hear any more of that kind of talk," interposed the court. "Answer the question addressed to you by counsel."

"Judge, I did. He asked me if I knew what it was and I said I did."

"Are you sure that you know what is meant by preponderance of evidence?" the court questioned sharply.

"Of course I am, judge."

"Define it, then."

"It's evidence previously pondered."

BRINGING STEAMER TO STOP

Chief Engineer in French Navy Makes Some Interesting Calculations.

M. Bertin, chief engineer of naval construction in the French navy, has just finished some elaborate calculations to ascertain in how short distance a steamship can stop. He demonstrates that a 50,000-ton transatlantic liner going 29 knots an hour, simply by stopping the engines will come to a stop in one hour and 18 minutes and will in that time have traveled 4.78 statute miles.

The same vessel with reciprocating engines, if these be reversed, will stop in twice its own length, and if the engines be turbines, in four times its own length.

These theoretical calculations are verified by actual experiment. The French minister of marine has just made the test with some torpedo boats and has on several occasions stopped one by reversing its engine in 65.6 yards, and when the engines were of the turbine type in 273.4 yards.

We have learned that in 1911 25 centuries will have elapsed since the Roman legions were recalled from Britain, never to reappear until ice cream became a commodity favored in realms that Caesar hardly knew.

It is a hundred years since Thackeray and John Bright were born, or will be when we have shifted the calendars on our desks. There will be celebrations certainly of one, and probably of both birthdays. It is possible that in another century people will again be remembering the author of "Vanity Fair," though the eloquent radical and corn-law abolitionist may be well-nigh forgotten.—Glasgow Herald.

MUSIC FOR THE CHILDREN.

Every one considers folk-songs to be of a fine kind of music. Even the greatest musicians, like Bach, Beethoven and Chopin, have greatly admired them because they are so simple and touching and sincere. Of course some are much more beautiful than others, yet all of them have qualities that make them last. Folk-songs are the finest kind of music for boys and girls to sing, because they are so simple and yet good music. It is best to learn first the simplest forms, and in that way to lay the foundation of sound musical taste.—St. Nicholas.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

"You will admit that you owe a great debt to your wife,"

"I should say so," replied Mr. Cunrow.

STAGE KILLING PROVES REAL

Fete Organized by Mission Folk in a Chinese Village Has a Tragic Ending.

There was a tragic ending recently to a fete organized at a Chinese village in honor of the birthday of a member of the Southern Presbyterian mission. An amateur theatrical performance was one of the features of the fete, in the course of which Dr. Yang was to be killed by an assassin. The students had requested that the assassin's knife should be made of wood or tin, but Dr. Yang insisted that it should be the real thing. This was agreed to, but it was stipulated that he should wear a breastplate. As soon as he was stabbed he was to fall to the ground, whereupon a red liquid, prepared beforehand, was to flow from the wound. No one knows how it was that the doctor appeared on the stage without his cuirass. Certain it is that he did not put on the breastplate, and the assassin, Dr. Zennon, unaware of the omission, drove his knife into the doctor's heart. It was not until the interval that the discovery was made that the doctor was dead. Dr. Zennon, horror-stricken, gave himself up to the police.

HOW TO BEHAVE IN SOCIETY

You Must Not Act as If You Thought or Had Real Good Sense.

Never appear absent-minded in company. To be absent minded is indicative that the person is thinking, and society has no use for people who think.

When dining at a private house, if you fold your napkin it indicates that you have no servants at home; if you do not fold it, it indicates that you have no sense. Most society people prefer the latter.

When rising from your chair never touch the chair with your hands. It is unnatural not to guide or help yourself with your hands, but any thing that is unnatural and idiotic generally is good form.

COSMOPOLITAN NEW YORK.

New York is the most cosmopolitan city of the world. In point of fact, it is the second German town of the world. Berlin has a population of 2,000,000, Hamburg 730,000, Munich 520,000, and Dresden 500,000. The Germans in New York number 737,447 true Americans, infants and parents, born in America, and 639,000 German born. There are 595,210 Irish, and these outnumber their countrymen in Belfast. New York is a true Israelite metropolis with 672,776 Jews, for Warsaw has only 262,884 Hebrews in her midst. New York is, moreover, the fifth Swedish town, the sixth Norwegian, the seventh Italian, and the eighth Russian town from the point of view of population.

A CHEAP CYNIC.

Champ Clark, at a banquet in Washington, defended the honesty of American politics.

"It is cheap cynicism," he said, "nothing but cheap cynicism, to talk like Binks."

"Do you think it follows," a friend said to Binks, "that because a man is a politician he is a liar?"

"Oh, no," Binks retorted; "but unless a man was an expert liar I don't believe he could be called much of a politician."

JAPAN'S EXAMPLE TO EGYPT.

Japan decided at a certain moment in her career that western civilization was a necessity for her; she engaged western instructors and retained them until she had learnt all they could teach. And now Japan is self-dependent and independent, because Japan has taken and assimilated to the full all that she needed from the west and all that the west could give her. This is the ideal of Egypt.—Egyptian Observer.

THEIR KIND.

"Royalties from popular songs are very soothing, in a way."

"What way?"

"Aren't they regular soothing royalties?"

ONE HAD TOLD THEM.

"Your wife had a fortune when you married her, did she not?"

"I seem to remember her telling me a few times that she had."

CHAMP CLARK AND HIS NAME

Next Speaker of the House of Representatives Was Really Chris-tend "James Beauchamp."

Long before he came into prominence as prospective speaker-elect of the house of representatives Champ Clark became, as he has ever since continued to be, one of the pictureque characters of Washington. It was a rare treat to sit down with him at one of the tiny tables of the luncheon room where the plebeian public are wont to dine and join him in digesting a piece of pumpkin pie (and be sure to call it "pungkin.") It seems to be more to the liking of Champ Clark to eat with "the common folks" than to take his place in the inner sanctum marked "Members Only."

Mr. Clark's real Christian name is James Beauchamp, but there was such an abundance of James Clarks that he induced people to call him by his second name. Folks out Missouri way pronounce Beauchamp "Beecham" instead of "Bo-shom," which offended Mr. Clark's ear, so naturally and inevitably he became Champ Clark after his initiation to the field of politics.—National Magazine.

THRIFTY GIRL STUDENTS.

The number of young women in Oberlin college who are wholly or partly self-supporting is given in a bulletin recently issued by the committee on beneficiary aid. Twenty-six support themselves entirely and 54 in part. Thirty-six others are using money earned before they entered college. Of these 40 teach school, 11 do office work, 14 do housework, 7 are nursemaids, 11 tutor in the college, 1 is a companion, 1 is a music teacher and 1 is a curio saleswoman. Others are engaged in the following occupations: Play-ground assistant, library assistant, postoffice assistant, artist, rug-weaving, clerk, market gardening and seamstress.

ENGLISH SKYSCRAPER.

Almost rivaling New York, there is now nearing completion at Liverpool a "sky scraper" 320 feet high. The new structure is a remarkable building. Including the twin turrets that form its apex, it has 16 stories, each of a generous depth. There are no fewer than 18 lifts in the building. The structure is built on the ferro-concrete principle and its foundations are some 60 feet below street level. It is to win distinction by having a clock larger than that of Westminster. There will be three faces on one turret and one face on another 300 feet away. Each face will have its separate motor to drive its 14 feet fingers.

COULD SEE INTO FUTURE.

Gipsy Lee, the famous fortune teller of the Devil's Dyke, near Brighton, England, died recently at the age of seventy. She was for many years a notable figure at the Dyke and from far and near visitors came to consult the wrinkled old woman, with her gaudy scarlet cloak, yellow handkerchief and abundant jewelry. She claimed to have told the fortunes of hundreds of people who afterward became famous, and her proudest boast was that she read the hand of the queen, when Princess May of Teck, and predicted that she would be engaged to two heirs to the British throne.

HOW TO SERVE CHEESE

SOME NEW RECIPES THAT OFFER AN AGREEABLE CHANGE.

Cheese Neuvau Makes an Excellent Luncheon Dish—Baked Cheese, Cheese Fondue and Welsh Rarebit Worth Trying.

Baked Cheese.—Take half a pound of cheese, nine snow flake crackers (pulverized), half tablespoon of butter. Put the butter in a baking pan, then sprinkle one layer of crackers and one of grated cheese. Over this sprinkle one tablespoon of sugar and a little salt and pepper. Continue this process with a layer of each (except butter, salt and pepper), until it is one and a half inches thick; then add enough milk to wet. Put in oven and bake until sufficiently dry to cut in blocks two and a half inches square. Serve hot on toast.

Cheese Neuvau (excellent luncheon dish).—Pieces of bread cut as if for the table, thinly buttered and placed in frying pan. Sprinkle salt very lightly over them and add a thick layer of grated cheese. Then another layer of bread and salted cheese, and when the pan is full, pour over a cup of milk. Cover closely and stand on side of stove, where it will steam slowly for twenty to thirty minutes. Turn on hot platter and serve at once.

Cheese Fondue.—One-fourth pound of grated cheese, two eggs, three table-spoons of butter, one tablespoon of vermicelli, half a pint of milk, half a teaspoonful of bread crumbs. Boil the vermicelli in the milk and pour over the bread crumbs in a pie dish. Melt the butter and stir it in. Beat the eggs and add with salt and pepper the vermicelli and cheese, beating all the time; add a teaspoon baking powder and bake in quick oven half an hour.

Welsh Rarebit.—One pound of cheese, grated. Rub the bottom of a dish with an onion. Put in the cheese, add one tablespoon of tomato catsup, one tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce, half a tablespoon of salt, four shakes of cayenne pepper and two level tablespoons of butter. Stir until it begins to melt, then add gradually four tablespoons of ale or beer. When it is soft, smooth and creamy, pour it over toasted bread or toasted crackers.

Cheese Souffle.—Four eggs, one-fourth pound of cheese, one-fourth of a pound of butter. Grate the cheese and beat it well with the butter and yolks of the eggs. Season with salt and cayenne pepper. Whisk the whites to a stiff froth and stir in lightly. Bake in a deep dish.

Casserole Dinner.—Place in a buttered baking dish a layer of round roastbeef cut in pieces, serving size, and season with salt and pepper and a little sifting of flour. On this put a layer of sliced onions that have been parboiled a few minutes, add the seasoning of salt, pepper and sifting of flour. Next add a layer of tomatoes and more salt, pepper and flour. For the top layer use potatoes cut in quarters and salt, pepper and flour them. Fill the dish full of water and bake slowly two or three hours. This is a delicious and wholesome dish that is easily prepared.

Sweet Potato Buns.—Boil and mash two potatoes, rub in as much flour as will make it like bread, add a little nutmeg and sugar to your taste with a tablespoonful of good yeast. When it has risen work in two tablespoonfuls of butter, cut finely; then form it into small rolls and bake on tins a nice brown. Serve hot; split open and butter. Good either for tea or breakfast.

Tomato Sauce.—Simmer ten minutes one and one-half cups canned tomatoes with one slice onion, bit of bay and two cloves; then strain; melt two tablespoons of butter; add two and one-half table-spoons flour and gradually the strained tomato; stir until thickened; season with salt and pepper.

French Cream Pie.—Yolks of two eggs, two tablespoonfuls flour, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one teaspoonful of butter, a little flavoring. Mix all in a little cold milk, then cook in one pint of boiling milk. Frosting for top—Whites of two eggs, well beaten with one teaspoonful sugar; set in oven until light brown.

Potato Stuffing.—Two cups hot mashed potato, one teaspoon of onion juice, four table-spoons cream or rich milk, one-half teaspoon black pepper, one table-spoon butter, yolks of one or two eggs, one teaspoon salt, one table-spoon chopped parsley.

Cure for Warts.—A good and safe cure for warts is made by stirring a little soda in vinegar and keeping the warts moist with the solution for ten minutes several times a day.

Good as it Looks.—Ice cream served in sherbet glasses, with a spoonful of orange marmalade and a maraschino cherry on top, tastes as good as it looks.

Mixing Mayonnaise.—A rotary egg beater is very useful when mixing mayonnaise. In fact, it is much better for this than it is for beating eggs.

BACTERIA NOT ALL VICIOUS

Some Are Indispensable to Life and the Sterilizing of Food May Do Much Harm.

We should not jump to the conclusion that the words "bacteria" and "microbes" are synonymous with disease and disaster. Although, for instance, the word "microbe" carries with it the idea of something extremely undesirable, it is well known that these microscopic organisms are a necessary part of all natural processes and that without them the higher forms of life would be impossible.

An interesting series of experiments bearing upon this point has been conducted by a French scientist, who has communicated the results thereof to the Academy of Sciences at Paris. Rabbits were employed for the purposes of these experiments, in order to ascertain the value of food that had been sterilized. The animals fed upon vegetables that had been freed from all bacterial life by the most careful treatment soon died from enteric affections due to non-assimilation of their doctored food. But another group of rabbits fed upon vegetables that had been sterilized but afterward purposely impregnated by a broth in which bacteria had been artificially cultivated, not only lived, but became fat under this treatment. The inference is that there are certain bacilli that are indispensable to the digestive functions and that, in sterilizing food we may be causing more mischief than if we left it alone.

HIS FEAR

She—The submarine boats were very successful in the Japanese and Russian war.

He—Yes, and I'm very much afraid it will lead to a revival of the tank drama this season.

LAW IS LINCOLN TRIBUTE.

At little tribute to the memory of Lincoln lies behind the Lieb house bill, passed by the senate the other day, which prohibits killing squirrels within the confines of parks in the state. The bill was drafted to apply particularly to the Nancy Hanks park in Lincoln City.

This beautiful little pleasure ground is kept up within the confines of Spencer county by the state in memory of the mother of the nation's war president. It has been stocked several times with squirrels and an effort has been made to tame the little animals. Farmer boys living near the park of late have been shooting the squirrels surreptitiously and because the park is state property the Lieb bill was framed.—Indianapolis Star.

THE RIGHT PHRASE.

"Mrs. Duzzitt attracted much comment when she appeared in her latest ampere gown," wrote the market reporter, who had been detailed in a pinch to sub for the society editor. "Don't you mean empire gown?" asked the city editor, glancing over the copy. "Must have made the mistake because of the way some of those folks give the word 'empire' the real French twist, huh?" "No. I mean ampere all right," argued the market reporter. "It was shocking."—Chicago Post.

AMPLE PROOF.

"I am sure Mr. Plunkins is not an experienced frequenter of boarding houses."

"Why do you think so?"

"He never makes a facetious remark when he passes the sugar to Miss Cutely."

CORDON CASE
GOES TO TRIALSuit For $25,000 Damages Is Being Heard In Paducah.

BENNETT DISMISSED

Dr. D. A. Amoss And Others Defendants In Action.

Paducah, Ky., April 17.—In the United State Court, which was convened by Judge Walter Evans, of Louisville, to-day, the $25,000 damage suit of G. W. Gordon against Dr. D. A. Amoss and others went to trial and will be concluded to-morrow. Two years ago, while a resident of Lyon county, Gordon claims he was unmercifully whipped by the defendants and finally was compelled to leave the State. He alleges the riders gave him seventy-five lashes.

The following defendants were dismissed:

A. E. Brown, Linah Grey, Tom Turner, George Snaden, George Sells, Ike Sallee, Tom Montgomery, Lewis Nelson, Willie Frances, Bob Lister, Silas Sizemore, D. A. Amoss, James McGowan, A. L. Mitchell, J. B. Alexander, Forrest Wade and William Hall.

This leaves the following defendants in the suit:

G. W. Barnes, E. E. Wash, Max Hopson, Jake Stevens, John T. Jackson, Sherwood F. Green, Medley Stevens, Frank Ladd and Charles Lander.

The $25,000 damage suit of Mary Scruggs against Dr. E. Champion and others was continued.

The $5,000 damage suit of Laura Toomey against Dr. D. A. Amoss and other alleged night riders was passed until later in term, after the same defendants dismissed in the Gordon suit were stricken from her petition.

Upon the introduction of proof showing the death of the plaintiff the $100,000 damage suit of Henry Bennett against Dr. D. A. Amoss and other alleged night riders was dismissed.

The motion of the plaintiff in the suit of the East Tennessee Telephone Company against the city of Paducah to make permanent its temporary restraining order against the city to prevent the enforcement of new rates recently adopted by the General Council, was taken under advisement.

Jos. E. Meacham was indicted for obstructing the mails and the case was transferred to Louisville.

Case Dismissed.

Paducah, Ky., April 18.—At the conclusion of the evidence in the $25,000 damage suit of G. W. Gordon against Dr. D. A. Amoss and other alleged night riders in the Federal Court Judge Walter Evans gave peremptory instructions for the defendants.

BY COMPROMISE

Night Rider Suits Settled By Payment of $2,200.

Covington, Ky., April 19.—"Compromised out of court and let the case be dismissed," was the order in the night rider case in the United States Court. How the compromise was effected and the amount of damages paid to the defendant by the four plaintiffs was disclosed to-day. Robert E. Stanton, of Brooksville, Ky., was the plaintiff, and Elbert Route, Benjamin McCracken and John Flannery, farmers, and Hillman Hamilton, Marshal of Brooksville, were the defendants. The testimony was that a number of so-called "night riders" visited Stanton's home and tying his hands, took him outside and set fire to his barn. The four defendants agreed to a compromise, it is said, which was as follows: Each to pay the plaintiff $550 and to pay the costs of the court, which, it is said, will amount to some $1,500.

No Investigation In Calloway

Paducah, Ky., April 17.—Arthur W. Cooper, at Murray, has been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury and tell what he knows about the night rider plot to assassinate A. J. G. Wells, former County Judge and now a member of the State Board of Control.

Commonwealth's Attorney Denny Smith said he had nothing to do with sending for Cooper, and the grand jury will adjourn without considering the matter.

TAFT FUNDRed Cross to Use Income For First Aid Prizes to Railroad Men.

A generous friend has presented to the American Red Cross a special endowment of $5,000, to be called the William Howard Taft Fund, in honor of the President of the American Red Cross, because of his constant and helpful assistance in all of its work.

The interest of this fund is to be devoted to providing prizes for first aid work and competitions among the railroad men of the country. Four prizes with medals will be awarded annually. The first prize for $50, the second for $25, the third for $15, and the fourth for $10, for the best first aid assistance given during the year by a member of any class among railroad men organized under Red Cross auspices. Any contestant for these prizes must, in order to qualify, send a sworn statement, supported by the sworn statement of the physician who first treated the injured man, to the First Aid Department of the Red Cross. A jury will be appointed to determine upon the winner.

The remainder of the interest of this fund will be devoted to prizes and medals for competitions in first aid among railroad men given under Red Cross auspices.

Similar prizes will be provided by the American Red Cross for members of other first aid classes organized under the auspices of that association.

This country is surely getting thinned out of bachelors. There is prospect of losing another one real soon, as he has been visiting one of our neighboring towns about three times a week for the past few weeks. Don't ask us who it is.

"My position is too unstable. It would be cowardly to undertake to support a wife without a stable position.

"Mothers nowadays are teaching their daughters to look out for the fellow with the money."

"I want a home. All the girls I know are society girls and have no idea along that line."

"The old story. The one I want I can't get."

Some men are liars, but no liars are men.

REASONS FOR
NOT MARRYINGInteresting Service by Rev.
Hay at Which Anonymous
Letters Are Read.

Houston, Texas, April 19.—Some interesting and extraordinary reasons, but all containing truths, why they don't marry, were given Rev. Mr. Hay, of St. Paul's church of Houston Sunday in answer to a personal letter sent out by the minister asking young men to give reasons why they do not marry. The reasons—or excuses—were read by the minister in his Sunday morning sermon. Ten reasons were given as follows:

"My position is too unstable. It would be cowardly to undertake to support a wife without a stable position.

"Mothers nowadays are teaching their daughters to look out for the fellow with the money."

"I want a home. All the girls I know are society girls and have no idea along that line."

"The old story. The one I want I can't get."

"The use of false hair has tended to make girls deceitful. I want to know what I am getting."

"My salary is $60 per month. I can see no room to support two of that amount."

"Girls expect too much, and that has scared me off."

"Extravagance."

"The young lady refused me because she did not care, she said, take a short cut to the poor house."
